ANGLO-SAXONS RETAIN ATOMIC BOMB SECRET

Truman-Attlee-King Statement

But Commission To Be Set Up By United Nations To Control Threat Of Destruction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (Reuter): President Truman, Mr. Lemennt Attlee and Mr. Mackenzie King announced at a press Clement Attlee and Mr. Mackennical details of the Atom Bomb will be kept secret.

President Truman accompanied by Mr. Attlee and Mr. Mackenzie King, the Canadian Prime Minister, called correspondents to the White House at 3-30 p.m. (G.M.T.) to read an agreed declaration on the future of atomic energy.

NO QUESTIONS ALLOWED

The President said that no questions could be asked on the statement at the present conference.

The statement had been signed by President Truman, Mr. Attlee and Mr. Mackenzie King only a few minutes earlier in a ceremony which was attended by their chief advisers and by high ranking members of the Congressional Committee which is studying atom bombs.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

The following is the text of the statement issued on the Three-Power talks.

The President of the United States, the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and the Prime Minister of Canada have issued the following statements:

"Firstly, we recognise that application of recent scientific discoveries to the methods and practice of war has placed at the disposal of mankind a means of destruction hitherto unknown, against which there can be no adequate military defence and in the employment of which no single nation can in fact, have a monopoly.

Secondly, we desire to emphasise that the responsibility for designing a means to ensure that the new discoveries shall be used for the benefit of mankind instead of as a means of destruction, rests not on our nations alone, but upon the whole civilised world. Nevertheless, the progress made in the development and use of atomic energy demands that we take the initiative in the matter and we accordingly met together to consider the possibility of international action.

(A) To prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

(B) To promote the recent and future advances in scientific knowledge, particularly in the utilisation of atomic energy, for peaceful and humanitarian ends.

WHERE PROTECTION LIES

Thirdly, we are aware that the only complete protection for the civilised world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war. No system of safeguards that can be devised will itself provide effective guarantee against the production of atomic weapons by a nation bent on aggression. Nor can we ignore the possibility of development of other weapons or new methods of warfare which may constitute as great a threat to civilisation as military use of atomic energy.

FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES

Fourthly, representing as we do the three countries which possess knowledge essential to the use of atomic energy we declare at the outset our willingness as the first contribution to proceed with exchange of fundamental scientific information and interchange scientists and scientific literature for peaceful ends with any nation that will fully reciprocate.

Fifthly, we believe that the fruits of scientific research should be made available to all nations and freedom of investigation and free interchange of ideas is essential to the progress of knowledge.

In pursuance of this policy, basic scientific information essential to the development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes has already been made available to the world. It is our intention that all further information of this character that may become available from time to time shall be similarly treated. We trust that other nations will adopt the same policy thereby creating an atmosphere of reciprocal confidence in which political agreement and co-operation will flourish.

Sixthly, we have considered the question of disclosure of detailed information concerning practical industrial application of atomic energy. The military exploitation of atomic energy depends in large part upon the same methods and processes that would be required for industrial uses.

We are not convinced that the spread of specialised information regarding the practical application of atomic energy before it is possible to devise effective reciprocal enforcible safeguards acceptable to all nations would contribute to a constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb. On the contrary, we think it might have the opposite effect.

We are, however, prepared to share on reciprocal basis with others of the United Nations detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy just as soon as effective and enforcible safeguards against its use for destructive purposes can be devised.

COMMISSION TO BE SET UP

Seventhly, in order to attain the most effective means of entirely eliminating the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and to promote its widest use for industrial and humanitarian purposes we are of the opinion that at the earliest practicable date a Commission should be set up under the United Nations to prepare recommendations for submission to that organisation. The Commission should be instructed to proceed with utmost dispatch and to make specific proposals and it should be authorised to submit recommendations from time to time dealing with separate phases of its work.

In particular, the Commission should make specific proposals:

(a) For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information for peaceful ends.

(b) For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to ensure its use only for peaceful purposes.

(c) For elimination from all national armaments of atomic weapons and all major weapons adaptable to mass destruction.

(d) For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect the complying States and against the hazards of violations and evasions.

Eighthly, the work of the Commission should proceed by separate stages, successful completion of each of which will develop the necessary confidence of the world before the next stage is undertaken. Specially it is considered that the Commission might well devote its attention first to wide exchange of scientists and scientific information and as the second stage the development of full knowledge concerning natural resources of raw materials.

Ninthly, faced with the terrible realities of application of science to destruction, every nation will realise more urgently than before, the overwhelming need to maintain the rule of law among the nations and banish the scourge of war from the earth.

This can only be brought about by giving whole-hearted support to the United Nations' Organisation and by consolidating and extending its authority and thus creating conditions of mutual trust in which all peoples shall be free to devote themselves to arts of peace. It is our firm resolve to work without reservation to achieve these ends."

Attlee Govt. Follows More Outrageous Policy Than That Of Churchill's

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. He added that both British Governments used Indian soldiers to "crush Greek, Indonesian and Indo-Chinese patriots. There will be no peace in Asia and the world while such policies are pursued."

Harmful To Muslims

Pakistan Impracticable From All Points, Says Rajen Babu

LAHERISARIA (Bihar), Nov. 15. (U.P.I.): The harmful effects of Pakistan and the damage it would cause to the Muslims were explained by Dr. Rajendra Prasad at a mass meeting held here at King Park last evening.

Analysing Pakistan Dr. Rajendra Prasad said that it was an impracticable proposition from all points. Financially the North-West zone, which lived on Central subvention, could not sustain the administration. Even the Punjab would lose to the extent of rupees 10 crores which her soldiers are now getting from the Government of India.

Moreover, if Mr. Jinnah's demand was conceded, continued Dr. Rajendra Prasad, in the Bengal-Assam zone, that is, the Eastern Pakistan, there would be 48 per cent Hindus and 52 per cent Muslims, and 38 per cent Hindus and 62 per cent Muslims in the Western Pakistan as against only 10 per cent Muslims in the Hindustan zone. Could real Pakistan be formed with such a big minority? It would further mean the greatest hardship for the Muslims in the Hindu majority areas, where as a big minority in Pakistan would be able to put up with such hardships in a measure. He advised the Muslims to think coolly on these problems and not to be carried away by the slogans of the Muslim League.

Dr. Rajendra Prasad was presented with a purse of Rs. 40,000 for the Political Sufferers' Relief Fund and another of Rs. 1,000 by the students of Dharbanga for I.N.A. Defence Fund.

Indian Muslims Refuse To Fight?

Indonesian Cabinet's Bid To End Bloodshed

1,700 EUROPEANS HELD AS HOSTAGES

BATAVIA, Nov. 15. (Reuter): Against the background of "sull pitch" fighting at Sourabaya, where the Indonesians are now reported to be using tanks and mortars, the new Indonesian Cabinet was tonight meeting Doctor Hubertus Van Mook, Lieut. Governor, Netherlands East Indies, in a new endeavour to end the bloodshed now in its sixth day.

Fighting at Sourabaya has only just reached its full intensity, reports quoted in an official British statement said today.

INDIAN BRIGADE IN ACTION

Troops of the 123rd Indian Brigade fought their way through a hail of fire from light automatic weapons and medium Maihinea guns to occupy an area west of the bitterly contested Kalimas canal. Indian troops beat down opposition from Indonesian armoured vehicles in the struggle as a result of which they now hold the ground south of the railway including the Courts of Justice and Government buildings.

The latest official figures of casualties are four British officers, two Viceroy Commissioned officers and 160 other ranks missing.

INDIAN MOSLEMS REFUSE TO FIGHT

BATAVIA, Nov. 15. (U.P.A.): An Indonesian bulletin to-day alleged that Moslem soldiers of the Indian army in Sourabaya refused to fight against the Indonesians and have been arrested by the British military police.

Although the British control Sourabaya, the latest reports indicated that Indonesian forces are fiercely counter-attacking.

1,700 EUROPEANS AS HOSTAGES

Numerous bodies, including those of soldiers, women and children have been found mutilated in the Kalimas river. An examination disclosed that some of the soldiers were apparently executed and mutilated after being captured.

In Jogjakarta, 1,700 Europeans are still held in a large factory as hostages. 700 Japanese are also being held.

Several hundred Indonesians are said to be taking refuge in Dutch internment camps because they fear reprisals by their own people if they do not join the extremists.

INDIAN SEAMEN THREATEN GENERAL STRIKE

BOMBAY, Nov. 15. (A.P.I.): If shipping interests resort to secret recruitment with a view to breaking the strike of Indian seamen in Bombay who have refused to load Dutch ships carrying ammunition to Java, the Unions will be compelled to call a general strike, says a joint statement issued here to-day on behalf of the Bombay Seamen Union and the Indian Seamen Union, Calcutta.

The statement says that after the Bombay seamen struck work, attempts were made to show that there was no strike and men were secretly recruited to load the Dutch ships.

The statement adds: "If this secret recruitment continues the Bombay Seamen Union and the Indian Seamen Union, Calcutta, will be compelled to give a call for general strike.

"The Bombay Seamen Union calls upon the seamen of all departments to support the cause of Indonesia and appeals to the public of Bombay and the press to express their full sympathy with strikers".

'WHY NOT APPLY PAKISTAN LOGIC TO WHOLE OF INDIA'?

Mookerji Says Jinnah Stands Self-Exposed After His Latest Definition Of Two-Nation Theory

CALCUTTA, Nov. 14. (A.P.A.): "Mr. Jinnah, for the first time, has himself given us materials which completely smash his Pakistan scheme," declared Dr. Syamprasad Mookerji, president of the All-India Hindu Mahasabha, in an exclusive interview with an 'Associated Press of America' correspondent last night.

Dr. Syamprasad was referring to the detailed description of Pakistan given by Mr. M. A. Jinnah to the A.P.A. in Bombay last Thursday.

Dr. Syamprasad, discussing the fundamental basis of Pakistan as outlined by Mr. Jinnah, declared "according to Mr. Jinnah, 72 per cent of Hindus in India is so small a majority that 23 per cent of Muslims can never submit to majority rule. At the same time, he expects that Muslim majorities in Pakistan areas, such as, 54 per cent Muslims and 45 per cent Hindus in Bengal will, by the decision of Muslims alone, decide the fate of the minority Hindus. Why does he not allow the Hindus living in Pakistan to claim separation from the Pakistan state by virtue of their decisions alone?"

BENGAL, HINDU PROVINCE.

Dr. Syamprasad questioned how Assam, having what he said a Hindu majority, could be brought under Pakistan. Even in Bengal Province, he said, "seven millions of Bengali-speaking people have been deliberately kept out of Bengal and merged in Bihar and Assam." This, he asserted, "was done by the British Government mainly for crippling the political rights and influence of Bengali Hindus who have been torch-bearers of Indian freedom". The Hindu leader declared "without fear of contradiction" that if the "boundaries of Bengal are re-distributed and all Bengali-speaking people are brought into Bengal, and a proper census is taken, Bengal will cease to be a Muslim majority area."

The Mahasabha leader said he could not understand what Mr. Jinnah means by saying that Pakistan will be a Muslim state. Does this mean that Islam will be a state religion and Pakistan will be governed by the law of Shariat as some of his lieutenants declared? He asserted he does not know if, under the outline of Pakistan given by Mr. Jinnah, the electorate will be national or communal.

COMMON LANGUAGE.

Regarding the "patronising" assurances given by Mr. Jinnah to Hindu minorities in Pakistan areas, Dr. Syamprasad said that "all political parties will readily give him the same assurances couched in the same language, guaranteeing the same protection of Muslim minorities in the whole of India."

"Mr. Jinnah should not forget," said the Mahasabha President, "that Hindus living in provinces where they are in minority have had a bitter foretaste of Pakistan under Muslim League ministries backed by British bayonet. The maladministration of Bengal and Sind under the Muslim League is now a matter of history," he added.

Dr. Syamprasad agreed with Mr. Jinnah that there is a need for a strong central Government, but claimed that it should be for the whole of India and not for Pakistan only.

"Why not make the Pakistan logic apply to the whole of India," Dr. Syamprasad asked, "and constitute the whole of India as one federal state, democratically organised with a strong Central Government with provinces enjoying as much authority as possible and with the rights of all minorities protected according to Mr. Jinnah's definition?"

Cloth Control To Continue

No Question Of Foreign Dumping, Says Mr. Patel

BOMBAY, Thursday.

"That Government would not think in terms of removing controls without giving full consideration to the possible repercussions of such removal both on the trade and the consumer and that there was no question whatever of foreign cloth coming to this country in large quantities for a few years to come, was the declaration made by Mr. B. C. Patel, Deputy Textile Commissioner to the Government of India in charge of distribution in the course of a broadcast talk from the Bombay Station of the All-India Radio on Thursday night.

Explaining the position about the short supply of certain varieties of cloth Mr. Patel said: "The position of today is that while the sources from which finer varieties could be had have dwindled considerably, the demand for such varieties has increased several fold.

Mr. Patel then referred to the impression among the dealers that the Government of India contemplated removing control over cloth and yarn without any notice either to the dealers or to the manufacturers. "My own impression is that owing to the world wide shortage of textiles and in view of the inadequate production in India, controlled distribution in some form or another, will have to continue for a long time to come. Though the war has ended, the conditions created by war cannot change overnight. It will take quite a considerable time for things to return to normal peace-time conditions. After all, no Government would think in terms of removing controls without giving full consideration to the possible repercussions of such removal both on the trade and the consumer." Mr. Patel then referred to the fear that seemed to be entertained by some traders, that foreign cloth of finer varieties and cheaper prices would be dumped into India. He said that there was a world shortage of cloth and there was no question of imports from the United Kingdom or Japan coming into this country for a fairly long time to come. He had definite information to show that enquiries were being made by firms even from the United States for the import of cloth into that country from other producing countries, including India. One had to remember that supplies of cloth had to be made to clothe the people of Europe and some of the Far Eastern countries. These facts would convince everyone that there was no question whatever of foreign cloth coming into this country in large quantities for a few years to come.

"At a time like this," said Mr. Patel, "when there is an acute scarcity of cloth not only in this country but all over the world Indians should feel satisfied that they are comparatively very much better off than people of other countries in the matter of supply of cloth."

If the merchants do not buy cloth because they fear some loss, it will have to be the painful duty of the Government to see that cloth reaches the consumer, if necessary by the elimination of intermediaries. One last word, and I have done. It is the patriotic duty of every Indian to use what is available and purchase cloth that is available and not insist on particular varieties that he wants. He, who has stocks, should abstain from purchasing and cut down his further requirements. Thus he will help himself, the authorities and his fellow-countrymen."

PIGMETO

The Pangolin, more commonly known as the Scaly Anteater, wears an armour of scales which overlap each other like the tiles on a roof. Immediately it scents danger, it rolls itself into a ball and its scales stick up like sharp bayonet points. Thus, practically an accident-proof animal, it prepares for any emergency.

Your car, however, isn't accident-proof. So, instead of taking unnecessary chances you should insure it with the Indian Trade & General Insurance Co. Ltd. They cover all classes of private and commercial car risks and you can be sure your accident claims will be settled promptly and generously.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

PROSPECTS FOR PLANNING

The work done by the National Planning Committee at the last sittings of that body deserves more than a passing notice. Resuming work after more than five years' interruption, the Committee was in the happy position to find that planning, which, at the time it was first appointed, was a matter of undisguised ridicule among the mighty and the exalted in the land, had so taken hold of the public mind that even the Government of India,—that most redoubtable stronghold of "Faineantism" in India,—had actually appointed a Planning and Development Department of its own and that several other Governments, organisations or individuals were reported to be making plans of their own. The Planning Department of the Government of India is, it is an open secret, the cinderella amongst its sisters who hardly deign to co-operate with it, co-ordinate their work or exchange information and material collected. But that Department has scored a trick over its compeers by seeking co-operation with the National Planning Committee, as is evident from the deputation of Prof. C. N. Vakil, Economist to the Planning Department, to attend the sessions of the Committee in Bombay. It was not clear, indeed, as to in what capacity Prof Vakil attended those sittings nor whether he had any authority to speak on behalf of the Planning Department, let alone the Government of India. But his presence may be taken to have broken the ice and reversed the policy of the Government of India, when the National Planning Committee was first appointed. Then the Government made no secret of its disdain for this unofficial venture, nor of its firm resolve to offer no countenance, encouragement or aid to that upstart who presumed to be teaching the heavenborn service what was good for this country and its people.

This was not the only change with which the Planning Committee had to reckon. Many other changes had occurred during the interval, both technological and oganisational, which had been carefully considered and reported upon by a special subcommittee appointed at an informal meeting of the Committee in September last. The greater portion of the Committee's sittings was, in fact, occupied with consideration of that report. We understand the report is to be the basis of new directives or further instructions to be issued to the several sub-committees which would be required to review or complete their work in the light of these revised instructions. The report has not been published, but we gather no radical change has been made by it in the original instructions issued in 1939. The only noteworthy change in policy appears to be with respect to the list of priorities or problems of urgent importance to be dealt with immediately by means of specific schemes. A fresh sub-committee called the co-ordinating sub-committee has been specifically appointed to consider and report upon these. There is no denying the urgency of such problems, as food, housing, or education,—the subjects referred to the new sub-committee. We hope, however, that by selecting particular problems for immediate attention by means of concrete schemes, the Planning Committee will not lose sight of its real objective—the preparation of a comprehensive plan for simultaneous attack on all aspects of national development, with co-ordinated effort and co-operative endeavour on all sides. Planning would be no planning, it it results in particular aspects of the national economy being selected for preferential treatment. Nor would its claim to being a co-ordinated national endeavour be justified, if any particular sector of national economy or any given class or section of the people are benefited in preference, as it were, to others. An order of priority may, no doubt, be necessary, not only to get the best out of the concerted effort but also because of the much wider considerations of national policy. They had to do so in Soviet Russia, the pioneer of all National Planners, in their several instalments of planned development. And we in India may have to follow suit without any hesitation or demur, simply because an order of preference or relative urgency, has to be followed. Our apprehension rather lies in the possibility that special attention to given problems may obscure the equal importance of others in the aggregate economy of the nation and that any attempt at a piecemeal solution of any of them may give rise to new vested interests, indigenous or alien,—which may make the general task of all-round planning more complicated and liable to obstruction. The latter danger is the more considerable since effective power in the governance of this country still rests with the British Government and it is much too prone to create and maintain vested interests not to make our apprehension well-founded and reasonable. We trust Pandit Nehru's Committee will not be unmindful of this serious, though not always visible, danger and steer the bark of national planning clear of that rock.

Apart from considering fresh instructions to the sub-committees, the National Planning Committee passed some special resolutions on particular subjects of urgent national importance. The declaration of policy on such items as the investment of foreign capital in India, with special reference to planned industry, requires much closer consideration than space would permit to-day. The demand, in another resolution, to liquidate at least some part of the sterling balances and the refusal to countenance any scaling down of the amount, is definitised by the suggestion that the British-owned sterling assets in this country be mobilised by the British Government and converted into rupee equivalent, as a means to realise part of the sterling balances. There is ample precedent for this constructive suggestion even in recent history of Anglo-American dealing, and the Planning Committee must be congratulated on the sagacity and statesmanship visible in such suggestions. The same remark applies to the resolution demanding a dissolution of the dollar pool and the release of the share due to India to finance Indo-American trade, so essential for the rapid industrialisation of this country. War-time industries—factories or workshops some of which are in imminent danger of being scrapped or eliminated—call for another resolution, which suggests careful consideration of that problem by an expert committee and demands utilisation of the surplus plant and equipment in expanding or developing peace-time industry. Finally, the resolution requiring the utilisation of the camps, hospitals, sanatoria, &c., built during the war for the amenity of the troops, for purposes of rehabilitating Indian economy, has its own place in planned economy and makes the record of the last sittings of the Planning Committee all the more complete, impressive and constructive towards an ordered goal of rapid all-round development of the country.

Let Britain Choose

At a London meeting held to celebrate Pandit Jawaharlal's 56th birthday Prof. Harold Laski not only paid many deserved tributes to him but spoke with unusual eloquence on the need for immediate self-Government to India. "I admire Nehru beyond words", he said and asked: "When are we going to realise our responsibility towards the Indian people"? The Labour Government, following the Tory Government, answers: "As soon as possible". Prof. Laski knows the British dilatory and evasive tactics towards India when he says: "We make half-hearted offers of freedom and repeat half-true shibboleths in public meetings but they are always things unsaid." "And undone", he might have added. This is true of not a few Labour politicians. Nor is the effect of such a policy unknown to Labour leaders of any insight. Mr. Michael Foot, a Labour member of Parliament, states a plain truth when he remarks: "It is difficult to appeal to the Indian people to be patient a little longer". Is there another country with half as much patience as India has shown under Gandhiji's guidance? Prof. Laski only voices the universal feeling in India when he says: "Indian freedom is inevitable. What we have to decide is whether freedom shall come gracefully by British co-operation or instead by British hostility". Let Britain choose.

Frankly Speaking

Bombay Government's Warning

The Government of Bombay, in the course of a communique, after stating with regret, that "some of the public meetings which have hitherto been held in connection with the elections have been marred by instances of rowdyism and disorder," declares that it is "anxious that the electioneering campaign should be conducted as freely as possible". We welcome this anxiety. The Government can ensure free elections by seeing that all parties get equal and fair opportunities of expressing their views. The Government communique also states that it will be generally agreed that "any words or actions which tend to a breach of peace or to exacerbation of communal feelings must be checked and the Government have every intention of seeing that the necessary action under the ordinary law is taken if circumstances, unfortunately so require" and that "instructions have been issued to the local authorities accordingly." Any incitement to breach of peace or exacerbation of communal feelings must be unhesitatingly condemned. But, it must be remembered that election time is always a time of controversy and excitement and due allowance must be made for this fact. Apart from this, some local authorities are apt to take an unduly panicky view of strong language and we suggest that no action in this connection be taken at the instance of local authorities until its justification and advisability has been fully considered by Government itself. If this is not done, there is a danger that action by some local authorities may amount more to interference with freedom of election than otherwise.

A Timely Appeal

Mr. Asaf Ali's appeal for discipline in public demonstrations of sympathy with the I. N. A. and for more patience on the part of the police in dealing with them is both fair and timely. He expects nothing more from the police than is expected from that service under any responsible Government. And he rightly warns that violence on the part of the police will "only act as irritants and increase bitterness". Let it not be said of the Indian police that they are heartless, unprincipled mercenaries. Whether the police respond to Mr. Asaf Ali's appeal or not, the public should. Demonstrations have their place in politics. But if they are unrestrained they may do more harm than good, a fact which needs to be appreciated particularly by the young and inexperienced. Mr. Asaf Ali has special reason to warn the public that in so far as the I. N. A. is concerned, the very persons with whom sympathy is desired to be expressed would feel embarrassed by the unhappy results of such sympathy". Let not a good cause suffer in consequence of the misguided enthusiasm of the sympathisers.

Cloth Scarcity

The Bombay Millowners' Association is issuing a series of advertisements giving several figures to show that the mills are producing fairly enough cloth for the people, about 94 per cent of the peace-time supply; and the Association suggests that, if the public do not get enough cloth, they should approach the Textile Controller. On the other hand Mr. Dharma Vira, Textile Commissioner to the Government of India, says that, after deducting from the total production the cloth supplied to the Army, the cloth exported and the production of varieties that cannot be used for clothing, the total cloth available for civilian consumption is only 75 per cent of the pre-war consumption and the millowners' claim is a gross exaggeration. The exports should be justified by those who are responsible for them and the millowners should state how much wearable cloth they are producing now in comparison with the peace-time production. Finally, as Government has full control over production and distribution it cannot disclaim responsibility for the present scarcity of cloth.

From War To Peace Economy

Vora and Company, Publishers, Bombay, have just published a small volume ("Planned Economic Transition from War to Peace." Price Rs. 1/8). The booklet reproduces articles contributed by Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao, Ph.D., to two Indian commercial journals on the subject of planning the economic transition from war to peace in India. The publication is opportune as it deals with a difficult but vital problem with which the Government and the people of this country are confronted and which has to be solved with foresight and determination. The questions involved in the re-adjustment are many and extremely complicated. Demobilisation and the resulting unemployment, the reconversion to civilian use of factories engaged in war production, disposal of surplus war materials, the relaxation and removal of various controls, movement of price levels, foreign exchanges, currency and taxation, are obviously matters which cannot be left to themselves but have to be carefully planned and judiciously managed. Dr. Rao has elucidated the whole position with clarity and his comments and suggestions deserve to be seriously considered by the authorities concerned. War expenditure of Government having ceased, the whole aspect of Indian economy has radically changed and plans of post-war development await execution. The international situation and developments taking place outside the country are important factors that have also to be reckoned. Dr. Rao has thrown instructive light on all these phenomena and his booklet will be read with profit by all those who are interested in the inevitable readjustment of Indian economy.

ID MUBARAK!

(BY C. K. NARAYANSWAMI)

"Walk not proudly on the earth, for thou canst not cleave the earth; neither canst thou equal the mountains in stature. All this is evil and abominable in the sight of the Lord".

(Holy Quran.)

To-day we celebrate Id-ul-Zuha or Bakr-Id. To those who are Believers this day has great significance and is full of deep interest and meaning. It is not a day of cheap holiday for tamasha. This is verily the day of reckoning and on this day every year we commune with our souls and check up the accounts of our doings and strike the balance-sheet of the good and evil of our actions. That is to say, to-day is for every one of us, the Believers, a day of individual judgment, even so as it was to Hazrat Ibrahim, about 1,400 years ago. In his complete submission to Allah and in his steadfastness to the Faith, Ibrahim Pidar was without a peer. He would sacrifice his own child, blood of his blood, bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh, rather than stray from his plighted word. And lo, Allah, the Merciful, manifested himself as the Saviour. Pleased with the supreme submission to Him and seeing that unfailing and unflinching loyalty to his faith, Allah rewarded him, for "thy Lord is not regardless of thy doings." (Holy Quran). Id-ul-Zuha, therefore, comes into our lives as a shining star to remind us not to stray from the good and just path, of belief in and submission to Him. And to Him we bow in reverence and in obedience. In this spirit, therefore, let me join you and wish you Id Mubarak.

When we look around us, we find a whole world struggling to rise again after the terrible baptism of fire and destruction. We find, too, that those who fought with the word of "Righteousness and Good" in their mouths are drunk with the liquor of power and might at the hour of their victory. The holy land of Palestine is threatened with dismemberment as an Arab State. Turkey remains in perpetual dread of being attacked and her safety and security, are in peril. Iran is seething with conspiracy engineered from outside. The self-respect and freedom of the peoples in South East Asia with a large Islamic population is in danger. But the people there are unbending and would perish, rather than be slaves again.

If we in India had been free and independent with our own free Government, much of what we see from Palestine to Java would not have happened. For, then, we would have been a mighty people whose active support to these peoples who are bound to us in tradition, culture and history, would have been a warning. It must be realised that without its strangle-hold in Java and in Palestine, it will be impossible for imperialism to hold India. They are the outer-walls of the Indian Fortress. It is, therefore, our direct responsibility to defend them. But what are we doing in that direction? Are our internal conflicts and clashes the best contribution we can make to hold our fortress against external attacks?

"Firqa bandi hai kahin, aur kahin zathen hain, Kya zamane me panapneki yahm bather bair?"

These divisions and conflicts among us and our people carry us nowhere. They weaken us. Let us on this day of supreme and sublime sacrifice and, in the tradition of Ibrahim Pidar of complete submission to Allah remember His message and call: "Satan seeketh to sow hatred and strife among you, by wine and games of chance, and turn you aside..... Be on your guard". (Holy Quran). And remembering this and in obedience to it mould our conduct and actions to suit the grave situation in which we are placed and the still graver responsibility we have to our brethren from Palestine to Java. Let us realise:

"Nasl, quomiath, kalisa, saltanat thahzib rang.
"Khwajgi" ne chun chun ke banaye muskurat".

Danger faces 700,000,000 people—people united by tradition, culture and history. But we have held up before us an alluring picture of "wine" (prospect of power) and we are beckoned to enter into a "game of chance". Can we not see the fallacy of all this? Are we incapable of rising above the picture of mirage and rise as one people to protect our heritage, what belongs not to one section, but to all of us? A situation like the Khilafat days is rising before us. As in those days, cannot we, Hindus and Muslims and others unite and join in a common endeavour to rescue Palestine and Java and thus rescue ourselves?

"Walk not proudly on the earth, for thou canst not cleave the earth; neither canst thou equal the mountains in stature. All this is evil and abominable in the sight of the Lord". (Holy Quran.)

Implications Of "Two Nations" Theory

Some Fallacies Exploded

(By YACOOB HOOSEINBHOY LALLJEE.)

A great deal is being said regarding Pakistan and Hindustan. Every province of India should have the fullest autonomy. Not only that but every province should have the right of self-determination has certainly been the right of all the peoples in that province or in that area who must have such government as to them may seem proper. This has been conceded by all nations.

DELUSION ABOUT "SAFEGUARDS"

If the strict theory of two nations is going to be established, it means that a subject of one nation, or a person owing allegiance to one nation shall be an alien or a foreigner in the Kingdom of the other nation or nations, which is the natural and established corrollary when there are more than one independent nation in any country or continent. If it comes to that, then the first thing that is being said and believed is wrong, that is, the present existing religious and other safeguards and the minority rights with weightage prevalent in this country; will remain, because then it will be entirely the province of a nation to make such laws as to her people may seem proper, and no independent nation can insist upon another independent nation to provide rights, safeguards or protections for the people of the other nation. It would be said that if one nation were not agreeable to provide religious and other rights and safeguards for minorities who are subjects of another nation, then the other nation will also do likewise. This is quite right for those who can do it.

Upto now, it has never been that any independent nation has provided such safeguards and special rights to any minority in its kingdom for foreigners and hence giving anything like weightage and services is out of the question, as that would amount to giving preference to such minorities who are foreigners over their own people of their soil a proposition which is quite absurd. Large the instance of our neighbours. Iraq has not only not provided any safeguards for Indian Muslims, but, on the contrary, she has imposed restrictions on their entry even for pilgrimages, and further she does not allow Indians to be in her services or to do any business or to establish any industry in that state. Such instances can be pointed out in scores with regard to other Asiatic, European and American nations, and this is why we in India have realised that we should not allow any foreigner to establish any industry in our country or to allow them any safeguards or special rights. We are even against the British Imperial preference. This will exactly be the position or two or more independent nations if established in India, and no one must be under a false delusion about it.

I think it is most unfair that this well established fact should not be clearly put before the public and is kept out from the people.

POSITION OF MUSLIMS

In India, as at present the provincial areas exist, the position is that the Bombay Presidency has a population of less than two crores, and the Muslim population among this, is about 8 per cent, or about 16 lakhs or thereabouts scattered over the whole province, in other words, it is 1 1/2 annas as against 14 1/2 annas of the rest of the population. The position in Madras and C. P. is that there the Muslim population is hardly 6 per cent, or in other words, one anna in a rupee. In Bihar also the proportion is similar as that in Bombay, whilst in Orissa the Muslim population is 3 per cent or half an anna in a rupee. In the United Provinces it is about 12 1/2 per cent or what may be said to be 2 annas in a rupee.

Therefore, so far as these Provinces are concerned, as also the Nizam Government where the percentage of Muslim population is also about 2 annas in a rupee, and in Bhopal where the percentage is still less, and considering the much larger majority of Hindus in Cochin, Travancore, Mysore, Baroda, Indore, Gwalior, Central India, Gujarat and Kathiawar States, where the total Muslim population is, although about three crores or about one-third of the Muslims in India, still be only about 10 per cent or about three crores in about 30 crores population of these areas, and they all will be foreigners in these areas or provinces and states, if all these Muslims decide to owe allegiance to an independent nation or state, may it be called Pakistan, and if it is established, exactly in the same way as if any Muslim decide to owe allegiance to Iran or to Iraq or to any other independent state or nation.

On the other hand, if we take the Punjab, which has got a population of about 3 crores, the position there is that the Muslim population is 54% while Sikhs and Hindus together are 46%

"PUNJAB FOR PUNJABIS—NOT MUSLIMS"

Surely, the Government in the Punjab, if it is going to be an independent national Government, are not going to treat, nor can they afford to treat, almost half their number as aliens or foreigners, and even if it is attempted to be done, it is not very difficult to conceive that they cannot be successful. They would certainly like to have Punjab for Punjabis, as is the cry of both Muslims and Hindus and Sikhs at present, and as is the doctrine of Afghan, Iran and of Iraquians who wish to have Iraq for Iraquians which include a large portion of Jews also and which is the doctrine of all the nations near about and far off.

It can never also be that the Punjab Muslims would come out to fight for Muslims in various provinces when they have almost the same number of Hindus and Sikhs in their own province as their co-nationals and co-citizens. Not only that but such a thing has never happened for now centuries in any part of the world.

Similar is the position of Bengal whose doctrine of both Hindus and Muslims therein is "Bengal for Bangalies." It is a fact well-known that in Bengal, Muslims or Hindus from outside Bengal are treated as non-mulkis, as is also the case in Hyderabad and other premier Hindu states as well.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINORITIES IMPOSSIBLE

When I say this, I also want to say with equal emphasis that if ever any Province in India, where Muslims are in minority, should attempt to treat Muslims who do not owe allegiance to other state in any the least discriminatory way, they will never be able to bring prosperity to their people or their country. Not only that but they will rouse such bitter feelings as the Germans roused in their treatment of Jews from all parts of the world and all people. It is quite a different thing to make discrimination between a Mulki and non-Mulki, but if ever an attempt is made to discriminate between subjects of State for reason of religion or class then it will be a very serious thing and no sane Government will ever attempt to do so.

Finally, I should say that whatever may happen, it is very essential that we should consider very seriously all the pros and cons and should not discuss the theory of two or more independent nations lightheartedly. Every class of inhabitants have their own religion and their own culture, which will and must remain. Goodwill and prosperity demand protections and safeguards and that is being conceded now in the world-at-large.

OUR READERS' VIEWS

Pakistan And Federal Court

There could be no reference to arbitration unless the parties to a dispute agree to such reference, and to abide by the arbitrator's award. Hence, although Sardar Vallabhbhai's offer to refer the dispute over Pakistan and Akhand Hindustan to arbitration is quite fair, it is not likely to come to anything as the Muslim League has hitherto rejected the offer. At the same time, it is very desirable that before the question finally comes up for the decision of the Constituent Assembly, it should be thoroughly thrashed out and dispassionately examined from all points of view and an authoritative pronouncement on it obtained, as that would clear the air and considerably help the Assembly in coming to a just decision. At present, there is such a plethora of conflicting and confusing views before the public on the subject that we are completely lost in them and cannot see the wood for the trees. I would, therefore, suggest that the question may be referred to the Federal Court for its findings. It would be open to all political parties to state their respective cases before the Court and support them by any evidence and arguments which they may wish to offer, while combating the case put forward by any other party by similar means. The findings of the Court will in no way be binding on the members of the Constituent Assembly who will only consider them on their merits and adopt or reject them as they think fit. But the materials that the Court shall have gathered and the conclusions it will have come to will greatly help the members of the Assembly in coming to a just decision as to how they should vote on the question. If necessary one or more additional Judges may be temporarily co-opted to the Court with a view to secure the confidence of all political parties in its proceedings.

It would be as much to the interest of the Muslim League as to that of any other political party to participate in this preliminary investigation, and the findings of the Federal Court will be just as helpful to the Muslim members of the Assembly as to the other members. There could therefore be no sense in the League's refusing to participate in the preliminary investigation, and it is not likely to do so.

"Sugar Control & Rationing"

S. R. A.'s statement (in his letter published in your issue of November 8 under the caption "Sugar Control and Rationing"), that wholesalers in sugar are given a profit margin of Rs. 1-4-0 per bag is not correct. The net profit margin allowed is only Rs. 0-2-9 per bag. There has been no change yet in the godown rents and other incidental charges to warrant a reduction in the margin.

As for S. R. A.'s plea to ration sugar, the people, I am sure, still remember the days of long queues prior to sugar rationing. I leave it to your readers to imagine what will happen if sugar is derationed forthwith without an 'actual' (as against trade estimates and press reports) increase in the available supply, adequate enough to enable everyone to get his due share with ease at reasonable rates as in the pre-war days.

BRITISH LABOUR FACES DISASTER IN INDIA

Angry Protests Against Govt.

BETRAYAL OF MOVEMENT WILL LEAD TO REVOLT

Demand For Overhaul Of Imperial And Foreign Policy

GLOWING TRIBUTES TO NEHRU

(From Our Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 15.

Four demonstrations held in London during the week gave the Labour rank and file their first opportunity publicly to dissociate themselves with the policies pursued by the Labour Government in imperial and foreign affairs since they came into office.

Interruptions and interjections at these meetings showed clearly that Labour rank and file's political pot was boiling gradually to fever-heat against the actions of their leaders who are now at the helm of Government.

SWARAJ HOUSE SETS BALL ROLLING

Sunday's meeting at East-End held under the auspices of the "Swaraj House", was the rank and file of the Labour Movement which denounced publicly the Labour Government's military intervention in Indonesia and its refusal to permit Pandit Nehru to visit Indonesia. Mr. Fenner Brockway was several times applauded when he said that Pandit Nehru was refused a piece of paper (passport) for going to Indonesia, but I have no doubt that within the next three years Pandit Nehru would be sitting in international conferences as the representative of his people shaping the new world. While some of the Labour leaders would be forgotten men the world be anxiously waiting for the lead from Pandit Nehru at these international Assemblies.

USE OF INDIAN TROOPS CONDEMNED

Pandit Nehru's name will go down in history as maker of destiny, as champion of the oppressed people; but there will be nothing left to boast about the British Socialist Government.

On Monday another meeting was held to discuss the situation in Indonesia. This meeting, arranged by the India League, had a galaxy of Labour M.P.s who vigorously protested against the use of Indian troops against Indonesians who were fighting to free themselves from Dutch Imperialism. But the bulk of the audience which was overwhelmingly British working-class, thought that was a mild form of protest. There were frequent interruptions. All of them came from the English members of the audience. When the three Labour M.P.s, Messrs. Reginald Sorensen, Tom Driberg and L. J. A. Callaghan suggested to the British Foreign Office that British foreign policy must straighten out, there were angry protests. The interruptors kept on shouting:

'Why the hell do we want to mess about other people's affairs? Let Indonesians deal with Dutch imperialists; Bevin was as bad as Anthony Eden; you still think in terms of trusteeship; you still keep people in India in jail; you can't straighten Labour's foreign policy; you need to kick them out'.

One woman even suggested that there should be mass poster-parade for denouncing British actions in India, Java, Siam and Greece.

Another interruptor wanted to move an amendment demanding immediate withdrawal of British and Indian troops. He said: "Don't humiliate Indians publicly. They know they are not free. Don't make them slaves to fight their neighbours with whom they want to live peacefully as friends".

RANK AND FILE SPEAKS OUT

It was Mr. Jacobs, Secretary of the powerful London Trades Council, who had to confess that the Labour Government was embarrassing the rank and file of the movement by its action in India and Indonesia. He accused the Labour Government of violating its election pledges, thus betraying the British working-class which, he said, in due course will rise in revolt against the very Government it put in Office.

Mr. Jacobs wanted Mr. Attlee and other leading members of Government to make note of that instead of accusing the rank and file of the Labour Movement of embarrassing them.

DEBT TO INDIA

climax for these protests from the Labour rank and file. One was a luncheon arranged by the "Swaraj House" when a young Indian, Siddartha Roy, (grandson of late C. R. Das Deshbandhu) gave a definition of Democracy as understood by Mr. Attlee, Mr. Bevin and Lord Pethick-Lawrence. Roy was the central figure for round applause as he said Mr. Attlee's definition of Democracy as propounded at the Lord Mayor's luncheon on Friday last was: 'We Indians must not be masters in our own homes; we must not speak what we want; our people must be imprisoned without trial; our papers must not print what our people feel; if there is a Provincial Government which has the support of the people that Government must be put out of office by the Governor,' that is Mr. Clement Attlee's definition of democracy."

Roy was again cheered when he concluded: "We tell your British Socialist Prime Minister: 'We don't want this type of democracy. We shall fight under Pandit Nehru's leadership against this form of democracy. Your press refuses to give a true picture of the Indian situation; but we don't worry. Let these newspapers do what they want. We shall carry on even through these dark days our struggle for a free independent India of peace, prosperity and plenty'."

Mr. Fenner Brockway who could not be present sent a message. He said: "Every day Pandit Jawaharlal grows in strength and stature and in my opinion he has become the greatest national leader in all the world today."

LASKI GOES AT IT

Last night there was a crowded meeting at St. Pancras Townhall to hear, among others, Prof. Harold Laski, Mr. Michael Foot and Mr. Gordon Schaffer. These three speakers denounced the Labour Government in unequivocal language. As the meeting was arranged by the India League to send greetings to Pandit Nehru, all the speakers referred to Pandit Nehru's work as a world leader. Mr. Foot called Pandit Nehru a great citizen of the world and not only as leader of India. Mr. Foot admitted that the British working class found it very difficult to believe the Tory accusations during the war that Pandit Nehru by his action was assisting the Japanese. Mr. Foot added: "We who know his role in the Spanish struggle, we who know his denunciation of Japanese Imperialism, we who know his attitude towards the Soviet Union could never believe these false canards of the Tory press."

Mr. Foot asserted: "It is our business to recognise what had happened in India and we must admit that the Labour Government's latest pronouncement does not go far to meet the Indian situation. We must tell them as loudly as we can by words as well as action that we are dissatisfied with their offer. It has not got the backing of the majority of the Labour Movement.

MUST REPAY DEBT WE OWE

We believe that the struggle must go on inside our Parliamentary Party and inside the whole Labour Movement to see that the present policy of the Government is changed and the policy laid down in the Party resolution in 1944 is implemented forthwith. Most strenuous effort must be made to try to get the British Government to make a new offer to India.

It is very difficult to ask the Indian people to be patient. But this is a new Parliament dedicated to the Socialist movement to obtain a solid secure alliance between the people of India and Britain. We must tell our leaders that the Indian people, by their protests and resistance to the evil things done in our name, were helping the British Labour Movement and our great Labour Movement must pay back the debt that it owes to Indian Nationalism for these services in the form of protests and resistance."

"FULFIL PLEDGES" DEMAND

Mr. Schaffer declared that it was with a sense of shame and pain that he was moving the resolution demanding the release of political prisoners, because there was a Labour Government in effective power and control. Mr. Schaffer asserted that the Labour movement has the right to demand from the Labour Government the fulfilment of the pledges given at the time of the election.

He added: "Although we have won political power, the machinery of Government still seems to be in the hands of reactionaries."

Mr. Schaffer disclosed that a most important member of the Labour Movement whose name was a household word in Britain decided to go to India at the time of the elections. He was told by reactionary officials that he would be permitted to go provided he promised not to make any public speeches. This condition was withdrawn promptly when protests were made to Lord Pethick-Lawrence.

Mr. Schaffer continued: "If the Labour Government thinks it can impose its will on the people of India by force, by guns and by planes it is heading for a first class disaster. We of the Labour Movement are going to see that our demands are going to be met. If this Labour Government fails us in India, the whole struggle of the ordinary people of Britain must inevitably fail. If this Government cannot carry out the principles embodied in our programme, all our hopes are gone. We have got to make this Government succeed. It is the greatest experiment in Socialism. We must make it clear that freedom cannot be given by a foreign power. It belongs to the people themselves. We must make it clear to Messrs. Attlee, Bevin and others that the war has not ended, while the people of Asia, especially India are not free."

Prof. Laski was given rousing cheers. He had come from the sick-bed because, as he said, he wanted "to greet an old friend of mine in whose friendship I take immense pride. Neither on his side nor mine for period of years now that friendship ever wavered." Prof. Laski said: "Pandit Nehru realises that political principles in India are deeply rooted in economic factors. I admire Pt. Nehru for his courage. He has seen the Indian problem in the total context of the complicated future. Mr. Nehru is the person marked out to fulfil the destiny of India.

We must realise with a deep sense shame that our Labour Government made a half-hearted offer of freedom to India. It has reneated half shibboleths, but even the half-baked offer of self-government contained in the Cripps proposals do not and will not solve any problem unless there is full-hearted and full-minded determination to give full responsibility to India which is her due. There is still marked a notable absence of taking a bold step to concede freedom. There is far too much of exploitation, partly real and partly unreal, of communal differences and much play is also made about the attitude of the Princes who are there because of the protection and privileges which British Raj and guns give them. Knowing the habits and practices of the Indian Princes, it is a shame to let them continue."

Professor Laski emphasised that he was not speaking for the Labour Government nor for the Labour Party. "I speak for myself—an English citizen and a citizen of the wider commonwealth beyond—for I believe that in this critical hour we should take the right action while there is yet time.

TRIBUTE TO JAWAHARLAL

Referring to Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru as "an old friend in whose friendship I take immense pride." Professor Laski said "Nehru stands out pre-eminently among the leaders of the Congress Party as the only one who understands the connection between politics and economics and realises that Indian nationalism stands in the way of what is really the central issue—the poverty of the Indian masses. Not until the Indian peoples have attained their freedom will it be possible to battle with the central issue.—The poverty of the Indian masses.

I admire Nehru beyond words for the courage he has shown, for the insight and imagination he has brought to the reading of history and, above all, because he has seen the Indian problem in the context of the future and has made himself the person marked out to fulfil the Indian destiny of independence.

Indian freedom is inevitable. What we have to decide is whether freedom shall come gracefully by British co-operation or instead by British hostility."

Roars of cheering from an audience of 600 at times almost drowned Professor Laski's voice.

ACID TEST

"We have to decide whether we are capable as a Labour Party and a Labour Government of moving forward swiftly to the proud day when we can claim. We have assisted in the emancipation of a great people and in the fulfilment of the destiny of a great civilisation.

There is no more acid test of the bona-fides of the Labour Party than its willingness to go forward in this great task of emancipation.

A Labour Party, which is unwilling to play its full part in the emancipation of India, will sooner or later be unwilling to play its full part in the emancipation of the British working class.

Seizing hold of the microphone to make himself heard above the din of the cheering Professor Laski cried "it is a matter of profound regret, better shame, that British Indian troops should be used to restore tyranny in the Pacific area."

I know nothing in the record of the French in Indo-China that testifies the British Government assisting in the restoration of French domination nor do I know anything in the history of the Dutch Government in Java that would justify the use of British Indian troops.

"Freedom is a quality that must be inherent in the life-blood of a nation. No people can give freedom to another people. Only when a people takes its freedom is it worthy of the heritage to which it may look forward."

The meeting passed a resolution which read "We send greetings to Jawaharlal Nehru, the great leader of India and humanity, on the occasion of his 56th birthday and proclaim our solidarity with him and his people in their determination to establish their national independence this meeting calls on his Majesty's Government to release immediately all political prisoners restore complete civil liberty, ensure free elections and establish forthwith a national Indian Government."

Nehru Is Leader Of Youth

"Indian Express" Calls Him Peer In Political Status Of Gandhi And Patel

MADRAS, Nov. 14 (A.P.I.): "Pandit Nehru, 57 today, continues in defiance of time to be regarded as a leader of the youth of India", says the "Indian Express" in an editorial about Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

The paper adds: Though he is a peer in political status of elder statesmen of the nation of the rank of Gandhi and Patel, he differs from them in the closeness of his affiliations with the young.

Pandit Nehru's political greatness is in its pattern incomparable as it is derived from a survival of the spirit of youth in him, rare and unwonted among publicmen in the rough and tumble of politics, exposed relentlessly to its wear and tear.

CAWNPORE CELEBRATES NEHRU'S BIRTHDAY

CAWNPORE, Nov. 14 (A.P.I.): Resolutions congratulating Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on his 57th birthday paying tributes to the organisation and patriotism of I.N.A. men and urging their unconditional release were adopted at a largely attended public meeting of the citizens and students of Cawnpore held tonight in observance of Pandit Nehru's birthday and the I.N.A. Day.

Pandit Bal Krishnan Sharma in a speech said that the I.N.A. heroes were patriots in true sense of the word. Mr. Bose, the speaker added, proved that Indians could organise the best armies only if opportunities were given to them.

Babu Sampurnanand said that the I.N.A. was only an offshoot of the 1942 movement and the motive behind it was only to fulfil the independence pledge. He appealed to the people to contribute liberally to the I.N.A. defence fund.

With the exception of some Muslim shops, all the local markets and educational institutions remained closed today in observance of the I.N.A. day.

SWARAJ HOUSE CELEBRATES NEHRU'S BIRTHDAY

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuter): Swaraj House celebrated Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's birthday today when about 35 persons were present at a luncheon in London.

Dr. V. Rao who presided, referred to Jawaharlal Nehru as "one of Asia's greatest men" and said Jawaharlal Nehru opposed Fascist militarism in the east and the west long before Britain and America declared war on Germany and Japan.

Dr. Kumria, Professor N. Gangulee and Mr. Suba Singh of Ceylon also paid tributes to Nehru and the meeting sent messages to Pandit Nehru wishing the Congress victory in the coming elections.

Singapore Celebrates Jawahar's Birthday

SINGAPORE, Nov. 14. (A.P.A.): The birthday of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru was celebrated to-day by thousands of Indians, Chinese and Malay who had assembled in a big rally.

The rally was organized by the Singapore General Labour Union of which many Indians are members.

The celebrations were topped with a tea party attended by representatives of the military administration.

Indian quarters of Singapore were beflagged with the Indian Congress Tricolour.

Australian Services Out For 300

Hassett And Pepper Make Spicy 1st Innings Against Universities XI

SHINDE CAPTURES FOUR WICKETS FOR 110

POONA, Nov. 15. (A.P.I.): The Australian Services Cricket team met the combined Indian Universities XI here today in a two-day match on the Poona Club ground and batting first, made 300 runs in their first innings. Hassett, the Australian Captain, scored 95 and Pepper made 50 which included five hits for six.

The Universities then going in had made 41 for the loss of one wicket, when stumps were drawn for the day. Shinde, the Maharashtra googly bowler, captured four wickets for 110 runs.

HASSETT WINS TOSS

Hassett won the toss and sent in Carmody and Workman to open the innings against the bowling of Phadkar from the Council Hall end and Abdul Hafeez from the other.

Both the bowlers were bowling to a leg trap but did not trouble the batsmen who were shaping quite confidently. Carmody, who was more aggressive, cut Phadkar to the ropes and later twice drove Hafeez past cover for fours.

Phadkar who was maintaining an excellent length was unlucky not to claim Carmody's wicket when the total was 30. In hooking a bumper from Phadkar, Carmody skied the ball to deep squareleg where Palvankar completely misjudged the catch, the ball falling clear after touching his fingers. Carmody was then only 20.

The first bowling change was made at 32 when Shinde took over from Hafeez who had conceded 13 runs in four overs but Workman collecting three grand fours on the leg side in one over from Phadkar sent up 50 after the innings had lasted 43 minutes. Carmody was then 24 and Workman 26. Phadkar after conceding 31 runs in 6 overs made way for Ghazali and this change met with an immediate success as Carmody in attempting to square cut gave Rege fielding at backward point a hot catch which the fielder accepted (56/1/30). Carmody had batted 46 minutes during which he hit four fours.

Workman was joined by Stanford but after scoring 31 in a stay of 49 minutes with four fours to his credit skied Shinde to cover where Rajendranath made no mistake (62/2/31).

DROPPED CATCHES HELP.

Williams and Stanford now came together but dropped catches enabled them to carry the score to 100 in 93 minutes without further loss. Stanford executed several flashing square-cut while Williams who was not very comfortable in the opening stages was lucky to survive when the total was 86 and his own score 11. Phadkar returned in place of Ghazali, whose one wicket had cost him 19 runs and in his second over Williams snicked the ball to Shinde at first slip, only to be dropped. Runs now came steadily but at 99 Stanford who was then 23 was dropped by Palvankar at deep squareleg. Phadkar again being the bowler to suffer and one hundred was registered in 93 minutes. Stanford drove Shinde past cover for a four but in hooking a bumper from Phadkar, was held by Palvankar for 34 made in a stay of exactly one hour. (115/3/34). Hassett joined Williams who, however, played on to his wicket in the same over from Phadkar and was bowled for 20 (116/4/20).

Pepper joined Hassett and scored the first sixer of the match by hooking a bumper from Phadkar to the fineleg boundary, but Hassett was struck on the chest by another bumper from Phadkar. When lunch was taken the score was 125 for four wickets, Hassett batting three, Pepper batting seven.

PEPPER DELIGHTS CROWD.

Pepper delighted the crowd by hitting five sixer and two fours in his 50 made in 85 many minutes but only one of them landed on the top of the tents.

Rajendranath was keeping wicket in place of Matrie when play was resumed after lunch when Shinde and Phadkar continued bowling. Phadkar had a shortleg, a deep shortleg and a deep square-leg and was bumping them on the leg stump but Hassett experienced no difficulty whatsoever hooking them with grand strokes all along the ground. Pepper on the other hand indulged in terrific swipes and connecting a few caused the spectators on the fine leg boundary a few anxious moments.

Hassett drove Shinde to the off boundary while Pepper drove the same bowler to the cover boundary and then lifted him to the screen for a second six to register 150 in 135 minutes. At 154, Rege took over from Phadkar who had given away seven runs in three overs but Hassett collected another four by hooking the new bowler to the leg-boundary. Pepper when 25 got lucky four over the slips off Shinde when the total was 163. After Hassett had square-cut Shinde for another four, Pepper registered his third sixer by driving Shinde to the off and then hooked Rege over the tents for the fourth sixer. Pepper then hit Shinde to the screen but Ghazali took a good catch just over the boundary line and while the umpire was consulting scorers as to what had happened, Mantri signalled a six and the game was continued. Then in trying to hit the next ball also out of the ground, Pepper was well taken by Ghazali near the screen (297/5/86).

Price joined Hassett who was scoring with delightful strokes all round the wicket and 200 were registered in 165 minutes.

HASSETT'S GRAND PERFORMANCE.

With the new ball taken at 210, Phadkar and Modi came back to the attack but the Australian Captain was scoring freely all round the wicket with grand strokes. Hassett completed his 52 in a stay of 69 minutes inclusive of seven fours and then lifted Modi to the long-on for a magnificent six.

The game then took a sudden turn and the Australians lost two wickets at 236. Price in attempting to hook Modi miahit giving Palvankar at short-leg an easy catch (236/6/10). And then Slamey who followed gave Palvankar a similar catch off Modi without breaking his duck (236/7/0).

Roper and Hassett then became associated and raised the score to 250 after the innings had lasted 202 minutes Hassett then being 67 and Roper 7. At 262, Shinde took over from Phadkar and four runs later, Palvankar relieved Modi at the other end. Hassett continued to score freely until seven minutes before tea when he was completely beaten by a leg-break from Shinde for 95 made in a stay of 124 minutes with one six and 12 fours to his credit (287/8/95).

Ellis joined Roper, who was out at 295 caught behind the wickets for 23 off Shinde but Ellis and Bremner played out time and when tea was taken, the score was 297 for nine wickets, Ellis batting 2, Bremner batting 1, extras 1.

Three minutes after the tea interval sufficed to see the end of the Australians first innings for 300, the lowest total of the tour. Shinde's first over produced three runs to register 300 after the innings had lasted 248 minutes but the first ball from Ghazali found Bremner completely beaten and the innings terminated for 300, Ellis remaining not out with 4.

Impetus To Indian Science Imperative!

Colville Assures Govt. Support For Research At R. I. S. Silver Jubilee Celebrations

Telegrams of congratulations from different universities in India and Scientists were read by Principal G. R. Paranjpe at the Silver Jubilee Celebrations of the Royal Institute of Science, Bombay, on Thursday afternoon.

Sir John Colville, who presided, was received by Principal Paranjpe and his staff and conducted to the dais.

At the outset, Principal Paranjpe gave a brief history of the Royal Institute of Science and eulogised the munificence of Sir Cowasji Jehangir, Sir Jacob Sassoon, Sir Currimbhoy Ebrahim and Sir Vussonji Mulji for their princely donations and expressed the hope that such donations would be given to the Institute for greater achievements in the future.

The Governor declaring open the Jubilee celebrations, referred to the resulting recent research such as penicillin and atomic bomb and voiced the sentiments of H. M. the King expressed recently at the centenary celebrations of the Imperial College of Science and Technology at the Albert Hall, London, in which His Majesty said that the determination, vigour, ingenuity and skill that brought us to victory must be engaged in the work of peace and reconstruction.

"Here, in India", the Governor said, "the possibilities of the application of scientific discovery to the raising of the standards of life are almost limitless.

"Indeed, an impetus to Indian science on a scale comparable with the urge of war is imperative if this vast country, with its enormous and still increasing population, is even to hold its own in the continual battle which man is always waging against nature to preserve and enrich his civilisation.

"Many here to-day will remember the stimulating visit which Prof. A. V. Hill paid to India last year, and his conviction, as a visitor to India and a scientist of distinction, of the importance for India's future of making the fullest use of her scientific resources.

OFFICIAL BACKING NOT ENOUGH.

"I can assure you that both the Government of India and Provincial Governments are alive to these considerations, and it can be expected that scientific studies and research work will, in the period of opportunity opening out before us, receive greater encouragement and support than was the case before the war. But official backing, in a matter of such vast enterprise, is not enough.

"It is hardly necessary for me to emphasise in this Institute the great part which leaders of trade and industry have to play in the progress of scientific development.

PROGRESS OF SCIENCE IN INDIA

Prof. S. S. Bhatnagar then spoke of "Progress of Science in India" in its various branches such as mathematics, physics, chemistry, geology, biology, and medicine and said the first Indian to be the Fellow of the Royal Society was a Bombay Parsi, Ardeshir Cursetji who was elected to the Society in 1841 for his proficiency in mathematics.

He then paid tributes to the House of Tatas and to its illustrious founder, the late Mr. J. N. Tata, the greatest patron of scientific learning and the most foresighted industrialist that India has so far produced. Mr. J. R. D. Tata, the present chairman of Messrs. Tata Sons and Sir Ardeshir Dalal, one of the distinguished directors of Tatas and Dr. John Matthai, he said, are now taking keen interest in the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. The Bombay Plan as it is now rightly called represents the first constructive effort for the industrial regeneration of India in which science and scientists must play a prominent role of constructive work.

Concluding, Prof. Bhatnagar said: While discussing this subject with a veteran politician of India, I was told that it was a waste of time to talk to the public of Bombay on the subject of scientific progress. He asserted that the Bombay Presidency did not seek after producing scientists and poets, who were after all eccentric people. Bombay prides in her ability to produce sound public men of the type of Feroseshah Mehta, Gokhale, Ranade, Tilak, Gandhi and Jinnah, and not freaks of nature of which the best specimens are the poets and the scientists. Naturally I differed violently from this definition of the scientist and the poet. The very stability of social life which produces a Feroseshah Mehta or a Gokhale, as much as the realisation of their ideals, is the resultant of eccentricities successfully employed for public good. When all Bombay's scientists allow their eccentricities to be applied to the good of society, the speed of national progress will be like that of the Deccan Queen in which it is the eccentric wheels of the engine that transmit locomotion to smoothly running and wealth-bearing carriages in the rear. May science add to the speed of the Deccan Queen of progress, wings!

EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS

An exhibition consisting of 52 paintings of a wide variety of theme done both in Indian and Western styles and half a dozen brush drawings, by Mr. K. K. Hebbar were declared open at the salon of the Bombay Art Society by Mr. C. R. Gerrard, Director Sir J. J. School of Art, on Thursday evening.

After giving a brief sketch of the artists' career, Mr. Gerrard hailed him as one of the most outstanding young artists in Western India. He had the energy, interest and artistic make-up of a successful artist.

SLAP-STICK COMEDY
The Regal
"THE NAUGHTY NINETIES" (Universal).
Stars: Abbot and Costello, Alan Curtis and Lois Collier.

This is one of the spate of indifferent musicals which Hollywood has decided to turn out for peace-time entertainment.

Edna Ferber's 'Show Boat' on the Mississippi provides the background for an all too familiar plot relating to crooks who swindle the owner of the Show Boat out of two-thirds of his shares by getting him drunk. Abbot and Costello come to the rescue, in the course of which they parade their absurd antics to the boredom or delight of the onlooker depending entirely on his or her taste. In my case, the boredom reached such a crisis that I had to leave the press-show in disgust.

The Eros
"THE STRANGE AFFAIR OF 'UNCLE HARRY'" (Universal).
Stars: George Sanders, Ella Rains Geraldine Fitzgerald.
Director: Robert Siodmak.

This film unravels on the screen a man's nightmare which helps him to make an important decision in his life. The man has two sisters with whom he leads a contented existence till he falls in love. When this happens, his possessive younger sister decides to break up the match by feigning illness. When the brother discovers the pretense. he thinks of revenging himself on the sister by poisoning her. Instead, the elder sister becomes the victim due to an accident—but it happens in a dream(!!) which enables the man to pick up courage enough to escape his sister's slyly woven webb.

Gerald Fitzgerald dominates the picture with her portrayal of the possessive sister. George Sanders gives one of his usual self-complacent portrayals. It is to be doubted if a New Hampshire man would ever talk with Sanders's frightfully haw-haw accent. Ella Rains looks mannish and out of place in her role of the sweetheart.

"OVER 21" (Columbia).
Stars: Irene Dunne, Alexander Knox, Charles Coburn.

Ever since Irene Dunne went wild as Theodora, she has been cast, alternately, in tragedy and comedy. If you like her as a comedienne (I personally prefer her in dramatic roles) here is your chance to see her in yet another mad-cap performance.

Irene plays Polly Wharton, novelist wife of a newspaper columnist who deserts journalism in order to enlist in the army so as to get first hand information on the ideas of men in regard to the post-war world. Polly prevents the newspaper proprietor from selling his paper, which, without the columnist, is beginning to fail, by volunteering to conduct her husband's column herself.

On the slender peg of this wife-takes-husbands-place theme, are hung many laughs.

"THE BODY SNATCHER" (R.K.O. Radio).
Stars: Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi.

Here is yet another horror story from the pen of Robert Louis Stevenson, made more 'horrific' by the screen devices of Hollywood thriller experts.

We see a cabman in league with an Edinburgh physician whom he supplies with corpses dug from graves. In the end, the body snacher resorts to the murder of the physician's servant and sells the body to his strange employer who decides that the time has at last arrived for terminating the necrophile's activities. This decision results in the customary blood-curdling climax.

Labour Lines Up With Tories

(From Our Correspondent)
LONDON, Nov. 14.

A New York radio commentator comparing the speeches of Imperialist Churchill and that of Mr. Attlee, yesterday, said: "One must come to the conclusion that there is very little difference between British Imperialism as represented by Churchill, Eden and Company and the policy of the Labour Party in world affairs as represented by the three Labour musketeers, Messrs Attlee, Bevin and Morrison.

At a meeting in London, Mr. Tom Driberg, M.P., said there is some truth in the charge that the Labour Government's foreign and imperial policy is no different from that of the Conservative Government.

Mr. Driberg added that the cruellest joke made about it was a cut by Mr. Oliver Stanley who after listening to Mr. Bevin's first speech on foreign affairs whispered his colleague in the House, "since the election our Anthony has become stouter. There isn't any other change in him."

Saxena's Warning To Indian Exporters

BOMBAY, Nov. 15. (A.P.I.): A caution to Indian exporters against sending goods, especially textiles of poor quality to Australia was given by Mr. R.R. Saxena, Indian Trade Commissioner for Australia, speaking at a luncheon given in his honour by the Indian Exporters' Association, Bombay, to-day.

Mr. Saxena said that Australia was forced to depend on India for textiles and other requirements as a result of the war. She went in for Indian goods on a very large scale. But the goods sent to that country were of such inferior quality that it raised a storm of protest. The Australian Government threatened to stop import of Indian goods. Mr. Saxena, therefore, suggested that Indian exporters should bear in mind these drawbacks and remove the ill-will already created in the mind of the Australians.

DEMAND FOR PRIORITY

Mr. M. A. Khan, President of the Association, welcoming Mr. Saxena, emphasised that in view of the services rendered by India to Australia during the war, priority should be recommended for her in respect of her requirements of machinery and other capital goods. He criticised the policy of the Government of India in reducing the quota of export for textiles.

FILM DISPUTE SETTLED

Sibtain Fazli .. Plaintiff.
v.
1. Khurshed Hasan Kazi
2. Sohrab Merwanji Mody .. Defendants.

The plaintiff alleged that in August 1944, an arrangement was arrived at between the plaintiff and the first and second defendants, under which the second defendant, who carried on the business of a producer of cinema films under the name of "Minerva Movietone" was to produce a picture to be entitled "Shama" in the name of Minerva Movietone under a licence held by him. But it was alleged that the plaintiff was to direct the production of the picture and write its scenario for which he was to be paid Rs. 60,000/-. The plaintiff's case further was that he and the first defendant were partners with equal shares in this transaction, the latter being the financing partner. The partnership was to pay Rs. 4,50,000/- to the second defendant for the picture. The plaintiff alleged that the first defendant had in collusion with the second defendant committed numerous breaches of the above arrangement and he therefore filed this suit for dissolution of partnership, accounts, for a declaration that the second defendant has no beneficial interest in the picture and for other ancillary reliefs.

The first defendant denied that he had committed any of the breaches complained of but was willing that the partnership be dissolved by the Court. The second defendant denied the collusion alleged and contended that the plaintiff was liable to make good the loss suffered by him as a result of the plaintiff's gross negligence in discharging his duties as director of the picture.

CONSENT DECREE

At the hearing the parties came to terms. All allegations against one another were withdrawn and it was agreed that the partnership stood dissolved as from 26th September, 1945. The first defendant was to pay Rs. 40,000/- to the plaintiff in full payment of his interest in the partnership, the decree was to operate as a release of all the latter's rights against the partnership and he was to be indemnified by the former against all liabilities of the partnership. It was agreed that the plaintiff and the second defendant had no claims against each other in respect of the picture. Each party was to bear its own costs.

Mr. K. T. Desai. Mr. V. F. Taraporevala and Mr. M. M. Desai instructed by Messrs. Lakhia & Co. appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. K. A. Somjee. Mr. M. C. Setalvad and the Advocate-General instructed by Messrs. Pereira Fazalbhoy & Co. appeared for the first defendant. Mr. M. P. Amin, Mr. H. D. Banaji and Mr. D. E. Bilimoria instructed by Messrs. Smethem Byrne & Lambert appeared for the second defendant.

Order For Disconnection Of Telephone Challenged

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Kania)

Kaikhushru S. Mundagari .. Petitioner.
The Commissioner of Police .. Respondent.

The petitioner, the proprietor of a cold-drink shop called B. Shah Cold Drink Depot had, in August, 1939, got a telephone connection in his shop for the convenience of his customers who might want to book orders for drinks.

On 2nd October, 1945 he was served with an order made by the respondent under Rule 17(1) of the Defence of India Rules cutting off his telephone connection for a period of one year. His representations to the respondent and to the Adviser to the Governor having been of no avail, he took out the present petition for a Writ of Certiorari against the respondent, contending that the Commissioner's order was malafide and for a collateral purpose.

His Lordship issued a Rule against the petitioner to show cause, which will come up for hearing on 28th November and in the meantime ordered the respondent not to remove the apparatus.

Mr. M. C. Setalvad and Mr. D. A. Mahale instructed by Messrs. Zaiwalla & Co. appeared for the petitioner.

DEPRESSION MOVES NORTHWARD

Expected To Move Further North

BOMBAY, Nov. 15 (A.P.I.)—The depression in the Arabian Sea, which showed signs of weakening, yesterday, without appreciable movement, is gradually moving towards the coast.

An official of the Meteorological Department said today that the depression in the Arabian Sea has apparently moved northward and was centred at 8 hours (I.S.T.) today, about 200 miles south-west of Bombay. Its intensity is uncertain, but it is expected to move further north and north-eastward.

The weather expert gave the following forecast for the next two days: Light to moderate rain expected to occur at many places in the Konkan and locally in the South Bombay Deccan. A few showers may also occur in the West Hyderabad (Dn.), and North Bombay Deccan and isolated showers in South Gujarat and Kathiawar. Squally weather may develop along and near and the Konkan and Kathiawar coasts. Wind speed may rise upto 40 miles per hour.

Got prickly heat? Maddened by intolerable itching? Then don't scratch—and don't despair. Use Milton. Nearly every European new to India suffers from this skin condition when the hot season comes round. Many of them have written to tell us of the value of Milton. Apply it, undiluted, on a piece of cotton wool, and allow it to dry on before replacing clothes. This will relieve the irritation and frequent applications will probably banish the condition altogether. If the irritation has existed for some time and the skin is raw, use dilute Milton. (See directions leaflet accompanying every bottle). And remember, when you're not using it, keep your Milton firmly corked.

BOMBAY COTTON

The local Cotton market opened today at Rs. 406/4 and improved to Rs. 406/8 for January delivery. At this level there was some realising and January declined to Rs. 405/8 but under renewed support steadied at Rs. 406/4. The market has now realised that the last drop was mostly untimely without any pressure of actual cotton and was the outcome of speculative selling. So now it has recovered and is awaiting fresh developments. The new season has begun and basis in the upcountry are firm with moderate demand for cotton. Thus there is absence of any important hedge selling and such hedges on a large scale are unlikely until January. Thus the market outlook remains moderately bullish with preference to purchases on good setbacks.

Thereafter there was improved buying and January advanced to Rs. 408/8 but reacted to Rs. 407. The market was very steady around this level.

Later on local professional bull operator unloaded about thirty thousand Bales and January declined to Rs. 404/8. The offerings were taken over by shorts. Thus the open interest in the market is reduced and the mark steadied at Rs. 405. There was renewed selling and January declined to Rs. 403/4 and again steadied at Rs. 404. At this level there appeared active buying and January contract rose to Rs. 407/8. Thus we had a broad session with a large turnover. The market finally closed at 5.30 p.m. as under:—

I.C.C. January	409	4	0
I.C.C. March	415	12	0
I.C.C. May	426	4	0

COTTON PARITY

Indian Cotton January Contract is 855 cent points under New York January at Exchange rate 331.

GOLD & SILVER

The bullion market was quietly steady with a moderate business. The market is influenced by inflation ideas as a result of further increase in the note issue. Thus short sales are considered risky as there was no fresh supplies or imports. Forward Gold opened at Rs. 81/9 and after declining to Rs 81/4 rallied to Rs. 81/8. Ready Gold was placed at Rs. 81/10. Forward Silver opened at Rs. 133/8 and declined to Rs. 133/4 under scattered realising. The market was steady at the decline

The market was narrow but towards the close there was increased selling and closing quotations were as under:

	Rs. as.p.
Ready Silver	133 8 0
Forward Silver	132 12 0
Ready Gold	81 0 0
Forward Gold	80 11 0

Wall Street Believes Limited Inflation Inevitable

Cotton Prices Recover On Covering And Replacement Buying

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

Wall Street opened easy and active and practically all departments declined in active dealing which slowed towards midday The decline was again attributed to recent overbuying and the fact that the upswing might at least temporarily to nearing the end of the spectacular advance to new high levels since 1937. After the early sell off, prices advanced with most low-priced utilities real estate issues rails and selected industrials gaining fractions to more than one point. The demand was attributed to better tax prospects and belief that limited inflation is inevitable. The session closed irregular but rails industrials and utilities remained steady. American Telephone and Telegraphs 191-1/4 Exdiv. (193-3/4), Amerex Corpn. 37 (36-1/4), Anaconda Copper Mining 39-7/8 (40), Chase National 46 (46-3/8), Consolidated Oil 17-5/8 (17-3/4), Firestone Tyre 68-3/4 (69-1/4), General Electric 48 (48-1/4), General Motors 72-5/8 Exdiv. RISE IN COTTON PRICES

New York Cotton Market opened barely steady. The opening losses were slightly extended on the resumption of Tuesday's liquidation and some stoploss orders based on the lifting of acreage restrictions and growing dubiousness over exactment of the parity legislation coupled with the decline in Chicago prices and reports that the Thomas bill had been killed in the Senate Committee. The market rallied on covering and replacement buying due to talk of an improved technical position. The weekly weather report indicates good progress in picking although some delay by rains notably in Tennessee, Arkansas and West Texas. Latterly the gains were extended on renewed considerations of inflationary features and large scale expert requirements. Realising eventually checked the advance. Sentiment was more two sided. The session closed steady.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago grains were unsettled by the announcement of increasing margin requirements for rye and the easiness of Winnipeg and Washington legislative uncertainties. However oats displayed independent strength attributed to sustained demand from shipping interest, reliably informed sources state that the Belgium buying mission purchased 5,000 tons oats from Canada and 2,000 tons from the United States and are negotiating for South Americans.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE QUIET.
LONDON, Nov. 15.

Quiet conditions again characterised the stock markets to-day. British funds after early firm appearance reacted on some offering but British railways were in small demand. Oils were selectively supported. There was fair business in industrials but insufficient to test prices which recorded only minor changes in either direction. A prominent feature was renewed firmness in South African goldmines, particularly African and European which reflect a favourable outlook of their Orange Free State interests. International dollar stocks were firmer in unison with higher New York advices. Among foreign bonds German issues were again in support and there was some inquiry for Chinese and Japanese issues.—Reuter.
